Vronsky, Babin
Second In Series

Vronsky and Babin, brilliant duo-piano team thrilled Milledgeville audiences Friday, March 3 in the second Community Concert of the season.

Vitva Vronsky and Victor Babin, on stage and off team, have quickly and firmly established themselves in the musical world since their arrival in America in 1937. Their rendition of Hora Staccato was accorded the most applause, but was not overshadowed by the remainder of the program—a splendid example of technique and quality.

Earlier this season Vronsky and Babin returned to Europe for their third continental tour since the war. They went on to Israel to give their first concerts in the land where a grove of 75 trees in Weizmann forest is named for them in appreciation of their musical efforts in London in behalf of stricken people of Israel.

The works of Mozart, Rachmaninoff, Liszt, Stravinsky, and an etude of Babin's own composition were included in the program.

Caesar And Cleopatra
By New York Tourers

The GSCW College Theater sponsored the appearance of the New York Touring, Inc., who presented "Caesar and Cleopatra" in Russell Auditorium last week.

George Bernard Shaw in "Caesar and Cleopatra" ignored the popular conception of progress because "there is no reason to suppose that any has taken place since their time."

Ester Roice, star in "My Dear Children," and William Meyers, Provincetown Playhouse, did the roles of Cleopatra and Caesar.

Two Attend GPI
In Athens

The Colonnade was represented at the Georgia Press Institute in Athens last week by Polly Brannan, editor and Pat Montgomery, Feature editor.

Mr. Jere Moore, Editor of the Union Recorder was in charge of the program for the meeting.

The Institute was the 22nd annual program of the Georgia newspaper people, held at the Henry W. Grady school of Journalism at the University of Georgia.

Some of the speakers at the Institute were Robert P. Tristram Coffin, author, poet, and Pulitzer prize winner; Benjamin M. McKelway, editor of the Washington Star; Lawrence Laybourne, chief of Life magazine news bureau; Edward Weeks, Editor, The Atlantic Monthly; Robert C. Ruark, Syndicated columnist; Russell Janey, author of "Miracle of the Bells"; Robert Shellenberg, The Saturday Evening Post; and Jack Tarver, associate editor of the Atlanta Constitution.

The Atlanta Journal entertained the guests at a Journal day banquet at the Georgian Hotel with Ernest Rogers as speaker. Jack Tarver was the main speaker at the Constitution day dinner on Saturday. Guy Tiller, Atlanta Journal, and Lee Rogers, Constitution, were the main speakers at the Georgia Collegiate Press Association banquet at the N and N cafeteria.

March 28, Date For
P. E. Registration

Registration for Physical Education Spring quarter will be on March 28, after the return from Spring holidays.

All freshmen will register on Monday, March 28 from 4:00 until 5:15 p.m.

Sophomores will register in the gymnasium the same day between the hours of 6:00 and 7:15.

A Capella Choir
Tours To Miami

The A Capella Choir has returned from weekend trips to Washington, Commerce, Elberton and Thomson. They arrived in Milledgeville Sunday night after the tour.

Their weeks schedule includes Thomaston, Waynesboro, and Macon. The remainder of their trips are as follows:

March 10, Fitzgerald.
March 11, Waycross.
March 12, Jacksonville, Fla.
March 13, Sanford, Fla.
March 14, Miami, Fla.
March 18, Brunswick, Ga.
March 19, Milledgeville.
On Sunday, April 2, the choir will give a home concert in Russell auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

WSSF Goal Falls
Short Of $1000

The WSSF fund for the GSCW campus was completed last week. The fund fell low of the $1,000 goal. The total sum will be announced later reported fund chairman, Pat Wall, Savannah.

The faculty talent show on Wednesday netted $36, and the student faculty auction netted $110.

The week began with a movie in chapel on Monday. Various faculty members uncovered their hidden talents at the talent show on Wednesday. Gloria Nash narrated and had lots of pun with the faculty members and the penny pitchers.

Evelyn Knight, auctioneer announced that the auction cleared $110, without any strain on the students pocketbook. The faculty members again turned out to auction off free suppers, rides in their cars, books, cakes, hand-crafts, foreign treasures, records, cigars (Dr. Morgan), portraits, dress designs, and various other fruits of their occupations.

Gifts were sent from other notables like the lighter from Governor Talmadge. (This is the second year Mary Alice Howard has been highest bidder on the Governors gift). Red Skelton sent a Brown Derby cook book. Scotty Cowan sent his favorite Scotch plaid scarf from Ireland. Betty Stewart brought Mia Slavenskas dancing ballerinas, and one girl bought sole rights to blow the supper whistle. Speaking of the governor, Nita Stephens bought the pair of red suspenders (like the ones Mrs. McCullar wears) that were donated by Dr. Helene Greene.

Major, Minor Officers Elected;
President's Cabinet Named

Elections are over until class elections next quarter! Three seniors, Huanne Aiken, Dot Ward, and Delores Wheeler were victorious in elections for the presidents of the three major offices.

A week later elections began for minor offices and then run-offs. Dot Pinkston defeated Gwen Gatewood by a vote of 294-246, for the president of Judiciary.

Ann Gatewood defeated Nita Stephens for vice president of CGA by a vote of 316-213. Dodie Hammond is corresponding secretary of CGA after runovers between Les Clark and Julia Willingham. Sally Furse is treasurer and Kat Keaton was elected secretary.

Kitty Pitts was elected first vice president of the YWCA. Claire Amis was elected secretary, Joyce Nutt, second vice president, and Mary Florence Foster, treasurer.

Barbara Webber was elected vice president of the Rec Association, Willie Henderson, recording secretary, Lucy Bonnell, corresponding secretary, and Mary Quinn Harvey, treasurer.

Nita Stephens, Atlanta, was elected to head the Honor Board, with a committee to be announced.

The presidents cabinet of the CGA was voted in at last weeks meeting of Student Council. They are:

Point Recorder, Elizabeth Shet-felton.

Secretary of State, Gwen Gate-wood.

Secretary of Social affairs, Amy Bartlett.

Secretary of Student Chapel pro-grams, Polly Brannan.

Secretary of campus courtesies, Ann Arnold.

Secretary of Fine Arts, Billie Jean Hiers.

Secretary of Scholarship, Norma Marshall.

Secretary of Health, Alice Ann McKinnely.

Secretary of Campus organiza-tions, Betty Moye.

GSCW Sponsors
Guest Assembly
For April 21st

GSCW is to sponsor an annual High School Guest Assembly, the first to be held, April 21-23.

Bringing representative high school senior girls here from all over Georgia, the Guest Assembly will feature an outstanding speaker (this year, Georgia-born Willie Snow Ethridge, author, lecturer, and world-traveler); an informal forum and "buzz session"; performances by the GSCW Modern Dance Club, Tumbling Club, A Cappella Choir, and Madrigal Singers; "Dear Ruth" by the College Theatre; a fashion show and art exhibit; an informal tea at the Mansion; a Y taps service in the dorms; and an informal dance for delegates, GSCW freshmen, and GMC cadets.

Every accredited high school in the state will be eligible to send at least one delegate. Classes of 28 or fewer seniors may send one girl; those of 40 seniors may send two; and classes larger than that are entitled to three delegates. In addition, all high school girls who have by then formally requested admission to GSCW for 1950-51 will be special guests.

Registration will begin at 10 a.m., Friday, April 21. Classes will be visited from 11 until 1 p.m. and from 2 until 3, at which time classes will be suspended so that GSCW students may join the delegates for the formal opening of the program with Mrs. Ethridge's address, "Future Imperative" at 3:30.

Freshmen and sophomore presidents and the CGA president will take part in a Saturday-morning forum and buzz session on the theme "The Georgia Girl in 1950". They will be joined by an outstanding high school counselor, a well-known alumna, two or three faculty members, and guests for their perspective in the matters of selecting marriage, a job, or a college career, following high-school graduation.

A big student committee will direct student participation and hospitality. The faculty steering committee for the Guest Assembly includes Dr. Bonner, chairman, the deans, the registrar, the comptroller, Dr. Holtzclaw, Dr. Manchester, Mr. Noah, and Miss Meaders.

Pilgrimage Date Set
For Sunday, April 2

The annual Pilgrimage of "Georgia's Ante-Bellum Capitol" will be held Sunday April 2. The headquarters of the Pilgrimage this year will be the Baldwin Hotel.

The tours of the Milledgeville historic buildings, old homes, box-wood gardens, and landmarks, will begin at 1:00 p.m. and end at 8:00 p.m.

The admission for the tours will be $1.50. Many of the GSCW girls and faculty members will take part in the Pilgrimage.

Course Credit For A Capella Choir

Long has been the complaint that A Cappella Choir members and their director were overworked, and underpaid. The members sing each afternoon, at 4:00 until 5:00 and most of them belong to the Milledgeville church choirs.

Because of their high degree of professionalism, the time required, and the effort expended by members of the choir, the committee on revision of the Point System of campus organizations has suggested that A Cappella Choir be listed academically.

The committee also requests that the choir be dropped from the activity or point list if they are allowed to receive credit for work.

The recommendations asks that each member receive one third course credit each quarter for active participation in the choir. No mention was made of the GMC students, as to whether they, also, would receive credit.

The limit for participation for credit is two course credits. All work after two years as an active member will be voluntary and without credit.

This plan applies only to the A Cappella Choir, as other choruses are listed as recreational and interest groups.

I think this is about the most sensible thing the committee has ever recommended. It is really putting credit where credit is due.

After all, we only attend class an hour a day, and most of us know that one hour's practice for A Capella members only begins their activities for their year round program.

The plan will have to have action by an academic committee before a definite course of action is set up.

Write your faculty members, see the Dean of Instruction or talk to Mr. Noah. They would like to know how you feel about the situation. Do you think it is too much to give them 1-3 course credit? Do you think other organizations would expect to get academic credit also? Do you think grades should be added to the plan, or simply credit? Should they have class cuts as regular courses?

Cooperation Urged For New Campus Officers

Our new officers for the three major organizations have just been elected. Their job is by no means a small one. It is no easy task to completely satisfy the minds and wishes of every person on campus. They have been selected by you to do

Foreign Tours Displayed In Colonnade Office

This week on display in the Colonnade office is a selection of papers and pamphlets on foreign tours for 1950.

Everyone is invited to come in and read the news releases on the tours for spring and summer trips abroad.

There are expense schedules along with pictorial pamphlets on the tours.

You will find material on "Springtime in Europe, 1950," which includes a 10 weeks tour of Europe; "TWA Pilgrimages to Europe," visiting shrines over Europe celebrating 1950, the Holy Year; "Youth Argosy," "Foreign Study Centers — Basel, Paris, Zurich, Munich"; "American Council on College Study in Switzerland," "Study Tour," "St. Olaf College," tour to study at University of Oslo, Norway; "World Study Tours, 1950," Columbia University Travel Service; "University Travel Service," Palo Alto, California; "University of Basel," "The South American Friends Service;" and many others.

Student Newspapers Filed For Readers

If you like to keep up with friends in other colleges, then come into the Colonnade office during off chapel days or free hours to look at the exchange papers.

The papers are displayed on a table in the office. The exchange list includes: "The Mercer Cluster," "The Red and Black" (Univ. of Georgia), "The Suffolk Journal" (Virginia), "The Wittenberg Torch," "The Campus Quill" (Bessie Tift), "The University Signal" (Atlanta Division), "The Buller" (Mary Washington), "The Cue" (Dubuque), "The Branding Iron" (Laramie, Wyoming), "The Echo" (Wisconsin State Teachers College), "The Lawrence Tech News" (Detroit, Mich.), "The Periscope" (Shorter), "The Badger Quarterly" (Wisconsin U.), "The Watchtower" (Wesleyan), "The South Georgian," "The Kernel" (Middle Georgia), "The Campus Canopy" (GSWC), "The Miami Hurricane," "The Indian" (Newberry), "The Johnsonian" (Winthrop), "The O.C.W. Trend" (Oklahoma)

There are copies of 1949-50 issues as well as older ones.

Also in the office is a copy of "Smile With Me," presented to the Colonnade by William T. Wynn. There is one copy of "Public Speaking Without Fear and Trembling," by Mark Hanna, dedicated to Dean and Mrs. McMahon. Noel F. Busch's book, "Briton Hadden," was presented to the Colonnade staff by Time magazine.

There are other books, handbooks, pamphlets, magazines, catalogues, annuals, etc., that you might enjoy!

the best they can for you.

All of them are capable of the job to which they have been elected. Each possesses the leadership and the ability for these offices. But only the co-operation and support of each jessie on campus can their leadership and ability be shown.

So often, we are inclined to believe that when we have voted, our job in relation to these organizations is finished. In reality, our job has just begun. A locomotive on a railroad track is useless, unless it has coal in its furnaces to give it power to move forward.

So it is with new officers. Unless they have your support, your interest to give them power, they are like a locomotive with no coal. They can neither move nor go forward without you.

Support them, and they will do their best for you.

"Cooperation, and not competition, is the trade of life."

"Oh, come now, Miss Williams! That's the reason why we start you out on these little one-minute speeches, so you won't be so nervous."

84 Pct. Of Students Want May Day

The question of another activity on campus that would involve the entire student body has been crowded out of the minds of the students here at exam time. When student council set up the committee to investigate and find what the students wanted there were great spurts of enthusiasm and numerous suggestions from the student body at the meeting.

In the meantime everyone began to think, what are we griping for, we have all spring quarter filled with activities already planned.

The idea that Jane McCrea mentioned in chapel was in one sense filled out, but for the high school students. A faculty committee has planned a week-end in spring quarter, to bring high school seniors to the campus to talk, discuss, live with the students, dance, play, and have fun together at "a weekend at college." Jane's idea was for all the departments to display and show off for the rest of the student body and visitors for a week-end. Many of the students approved the idea and expressed wishes to carry out further plans for such a thing. Part of the idea will be carried out in the overall plan for the youth meeting. Also, Parent's Day and the Alpha Psi Omega play fit in with the same week of events.

Maybe after you take a look at the calendar, you too will think we have enough planning without the May Day Dance. But, the question remains, there was a special student body meeting called to ask the students if they wanted something else for spring quarter, and the answer was YES!

84% of the students polled felt they needed and would help plan a May Day. 13% wanted another annual hike, combined with a stunt night. 2% wanted neither, or felt there was already enough to do. 1% felt we could have both the May Day and another Annual Hike.

Some 200 of the surveys were not handed in, making the survey somewhat complete, yet enough majority in the May Day question proves that this is what the students want.

Some of the sophomores were looking awfully lonely outside the windows of the rec hall—looking in at their dates dancing with other women!

Margie Joiner and Vance Rogers officially tie the knot Saturday, March 8; then its off to Athens and the great U. to further pursue the field of education.

Dot Turner and Teeny Price spent the weekend at the Tech KA Formal. Big time was had by all. The snooper received no invite—phooey!

PLATTER CHATTER

Everybody's humming Chattanooga Shoe Shine Boy these days—so much so that it tops the Hit Parade for the second week in succession. It's a perfect vehicle for that staccato-voiced maestro Phil Harris, who does the lyrics with plenty of humor and zip, slapping away with his "shine rag" in time to beat of his bandmen. Johnny Bradford, who has been rapidly climbing up the success ladder as TV and radio artist teams up with Tony Romano in due to the same shine song.

Rag Mopp by Ralph Flanagan and band Inc. is bursting with a driving rhythm and tight, cohesive orchestrations shining with lustre on a remarkable potent platter. The band boys deliver the catchy vocal with a deadly and insistent beat. Pee Wee King and his Golden West Cowboys give a novelty version that lends itself to the sagebrush rhythms with good grace and demonstrates the adaptability of this bright tune.

The whole country is getting a big kick out of the twisted lyrics to a tune called I Said: My Pajamas (and put on my prayers) waxed by Tony Martin and Fran Warren. But leave it to those rustic characters, Homer and Jethro, and a winsome lass named June Carter to take "Pajamas" for a big ride. Down in the hill country, the folks wear nightshirts, it seems, so the boys and June spin out a hoedown version of this number about a tongue-tied lovebird. (Put another nickle in!)

Musiel Musiel gives Homer and Jethro and June a chance to have a lot of fun with this famous bar room ballad, as they plunk-plunk-plunk along about the dear old days beyond recall.

A duo of top-flight songsters, Lisa Kirk and Don Cornell have teamed up for RCA Victor on a pair of ditties that spotlight their unusual talent. Have You Ever Been Lonely? and You Missed the Boat. The "Lonely" side is the old perennial, given an extra punch by Lisa and Don, on this new version. Don's a sad lad and he wants his gal to take him back, but there seems to be no hope. This spinning has a real "turn-of-the-century" tempo, slow and lilting and slightly reminiscent of the "Bicycle Built for Two" ear.

Lisa and Don are still a little down-in-the-mouth on the backing, "You Missed the Boat." Don's really getting a lyrical tongue-lashing as Lisa tells him his apologies are too late, she's got a new man on her mind, and "You Missed the Boat."

More and more, music fans are going back to humble sources to find the kind of folk music that rings the bell. RCA Victor's Cottonseed Clark is a real gem who presents these rural homilies with unmistakable sincerity and reach-est right down into the roots for his material. The Day That Pa Played Preacher and Ma's Galvanized Washing Tub limelight Cottonseed's unique style, as he puts his message across in a slow and rhythmic speaking voice, with only an organ accompaniment to set the mood.

New albums out include: Tommy Dorsey Plays Col Porter; Yousie Monroe Plays Victor Herbert; Freddy Martin Plays Jerome Kern; Sammy Kaye Plays Irving Berlin; Erskine Hawkins Plays Hosay Carmichael; Ralph Flanagan Plays Rogers and Hammerstein; Claude Thornhill Plays George Gershwin; Wayne King Plays Johann Strauss; Ray McKinley Plays Rodgers and Hart; and Spike Jones Plays The Char-

THE SNOOPER Snooper Peeps Through Nine Dorm Keyholes For Social Side Of Jessies

Laura Ellen McCullough, Marion Killingsworth, and Polly Brannon are walking on little pink clouds—counting the days 'til Spring Holidays and that trip to the Annapolis Hop.

How many birthdays can one person have, Jan Blackwell? Berle Prosser journeyed up to one of her steady's dances this past w.e.

Texas Airline Supervisor Seeks "Tall, Attractive Girls"

R. S. Goedecke is looking for tall attractive girls. This year, the requirements for American Airlines Stewardesses have loosened up a bit. Girls standing 5'7" can get in under the wire in 1950, whereas they couldn't have made it in 1949, when the maximum height allowance was 5'6".

Goedecke, Southern Regional Supervisor of Stewardesses for American Airlines, with his headquarters in Fort Worth, said that the new requirement will make his job a little easier. It will also give more girls than ever before a crack at an exciting career which will open new horizons for them and give them an opportunity to travel and meet people.

American Airlines will employ 300 or more new Stewardesses this year. The same number was employed last year, after selection from among 9,000 applicants.

But it's not all glamour, Goedecke will hasten to assure any Stewardess. He should know. He's had personal contact with some 600 of them in the three and a half years he's been their mother, father and boss in the Fort Worth-Dallas area.

His jurisdiction over the pretty young girls radiates into the states of Texas, Oklahoma, Tennessee, New Mexico, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Arkansas, Colorado, Georgia and Florida.

Call him "Mother," and easy-going Goedecke only smiles wryly. He counters with: "You've got to be something of a psychoanalyst to choose the type of young woman American Airlines wants to fill its navy blue uniforms aboard its deluxe 300-mile-an-hour Flagships."

Goedecke is convinced that his job, which has its counterparts in two other regions of American Airlines' nationwide system, puts heavy demands on his powers of observation and swift judgement.

It must not be forgotten, Goedecke stressed, that the Stewardess is the "Showcase" of American Airlines.

"So, I've got to be able to judge a new Stewardess' ability—and quickly—to create a congenial atmosphere in the cabin of a DC-6 or a Convair and to make each flight enjoyable to the passenger. Her service is highly important to the success of any flight."

"The Stewardess has got to keep the passengers happy and comfortable at all times, under all circumstances," he said. "She's got to be young, attractive and must have plenty of common sense. But, most important of all, she must find it fun to be courteous."

"She should have a strong liking for people," he said. "And, to my way of thinking, she should

guy. Millie Street and I. P. have set the date for September—that's the long and short of it!

The modern dance trip to Athens served a double purpose for Mary Lancaster. Dance and romance!

Sue Rigsby and Carl Starks have been seeing quite a bit of each other as of late—so far this quarter they've only missed 2 nights! It's just gotta be the "real thing."

They used to say that clothes make the woman—but the new revised Senior motto is cars make the woman—just ask 'em. A car, and presto! Mucho dates!

Stop!

Getting out a paper is no picnic. If we print jokes, folks say we are silly.

If we don't, they say we are too serious.

If we publish original matter, they say we lack variety.

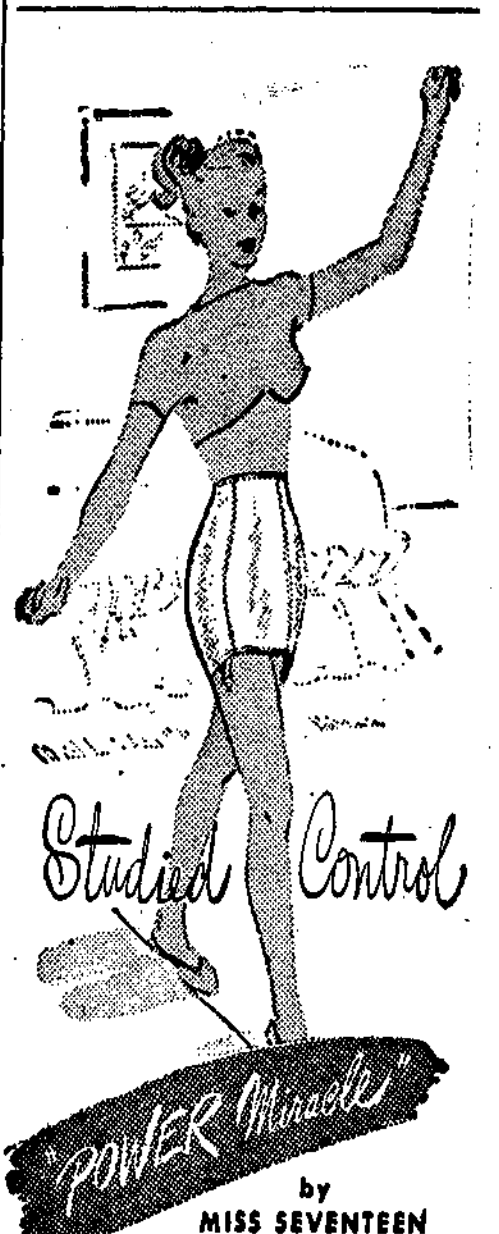

If we publish things from other papers, we are too lazy to write.

If we don't print contributions, we don't show proper appreciation.

If we do print them, the paper is filled with junk.

Like as not some fellow will say we purloined this from some other paper.

We did—and we thank them!

"Jumping Jimminy! I got a date! A date! With a real live man . . ." The cry went up, long and loud. It echoed up and down the dormitory halls, as Jessie stumbled down the hall in complete exultation!

The questions flew thick and fast as the girls crowded around Jessie inquiring the hows, the whens, and the whys.

"It was all quite by accident. You see, I just happened to be passing by the phone room; and the phone just happened to ring. And since I was the only person around at the time—quite by accident, I just picked up the phone and said 'hello'."

"pect you'll do."

"How manly! How romantic! Just like the movies! Oh, you lucky girl!"

"And we just talked and I sorta slipped in a hint that I was blonde and without a date tonight. And the first thing I knew, he had asked me for a date and I had accepted—and golly! He's coming in an hour and I haven't even started to get ready! . . . ."

The dormitory walls rocked and reeled that night as twenty-four girls helped prepare Jessie for her big date. It was rumored that he the best looking man in Baldwin county. Some even said he was captain of the whole cadet corps. . . .

It was only two minutes 'till

A loud chorus of sighs passed around the group at hand. One girl even exclaimed, "How romantic!"

"Well," continued Jessie, "This very masculine voice on the other end said, 'Hello'."

"Oh-h-h-h—how wonderful!" BROKE IN the little blond on the right.

"And I said 'Hello'".

"What an intriguing conversation!"

"Then he asked me if he could speak to Ophelia, and I said I didn't know any Ophelia. So he said—now let me see—how did he word it? he said, 'Oh, I ex-eight when eddie—peanutine and ready at last—tipped down the stairs to her waiting date. The second floor girls hung over the stair rail in hopes of catching a glimpse of this wonderful hunk of masculine protoplasm!

She entered the parlor.

"Oh, somewhere in this favored land the sun is shining bright, And the band is playing some where, and somewhere hearts are light;

And somewhere men are laughing, and somewhere children shout; But there is not joy at Jessie tonight—for the man in question was short, fat and fourteen!

"Remember the ladies," Abigail Adams wrote to her husband when he went off to help write the Declaration of Independence. "If particular care and attention is not paid to the ladies, we are determined to foment a rebellion." John Adams and the other signers did pretty much forget the ladies—but the ladies did not forget. Last year a round of rebellion rilled across Capitol Hill. With banners flying, the not-to-be-forgotten sisters of Abigail Adams were on the march.

earnest white-haired Guy Gillette introduced the amendment on the floor of the Senate.

With Every Weapon. The ladies' moving spirit was an invincible feminist, woman, whispering insistent, 65-year-old Alice Paul. During World War I, she had been thrown into jail for picketing the White House; she was forcibly fed when she declined to eat. She helped found the National Woman's Party. She was the spiritual sister of Abigail Adams, of Amelia Jenks Bloomer, the first bloomer girl, of those heroines of women's rights—Susan B. Anthony, Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Lucretia Mott—who before whose statue stood the crypt of the Capitol she had posed, tight-lipped and successful.

The nub of their demands was that women's suffrage was not enough. They demanded a constitutional amendment which declared: "Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged on account of sex." The battle was joined when Iowa's

The Westminster Fellowship is planning Spring Retreat at Lake Laurel for March 31. The guests for the retreat will be Miss Killer Miller and Mrs. Joan Tilghman. The retreat will begin on Friday and end late Saturday. All who wish to attend are asked to see Izzie Rogers in Beeson or Ann Fleming in Ennis Hall.

Emma Guffey Miller, sister of ex-Senator Joe Guffey, had pointed out during earlier Senate committee hearings: "We women want to be persons now because we are still not persons in the Constitution."

They argued that in some states women were not allowed to serve on juries, or to run a business and keep the profits without their husbands' consent. In some states a husband might get a divorce from an unfaithful wife but no vice versa. In some states women might not handle baggage, mix strong drinks in public places, work in blast furnaces, bowling alleys or shoeshine parlors. It was not a question of whether they wanted to these things; they just resented the implication of inferiority. The proposed amendment would wipe out all such strictures at one stroke.

woman*) did not stampede. It had voted down the amendment regularly since 1938. Despite the fact that both political parties had in the past thought for equal rights cluded a thought for equal rights in their own platforms, there were still ifs, ands & buts to be debated. One difficulty was that there were probably just as many women against the whole idea as there were for it.

Inherent Difference. Hollywooods' gag-writers warmed up. Actress Shelley Winters said: "I don't want to smoke cigars or go to strip parties, wear jockey shorts or play up the check." Bob Hope cracked: "Maybe now women will drive at the same side of the street as the men."

But for Senators, forced to decide something it was more than a laughing matter. They tried to grope their way out. One came born without a father. Another, a mother. Arizona's Carl Hayden ruminated on the Senate floor: "My mother told me what my father could not do. . . . My father told me what my mother could not do."

DE Girls Go On Field Trip

On Friday, February 24, the advertising, Display, and Buying and Marketing classes in the Distributive Education department went to Atlanta on a field trip.

Friday morning was spent going through the Atlanta Journal Building, where they traced the steps a news article goes through from the time it is received in the newsroom until the papers are stacked and sent to various cities. Among the departments visited were the advertising department, the composing room where thirty linotype machines are used, to set up newspaper, the color studio.

Friday afternoon they visited J. P. Allen's where they were welcomed by Mr. Burnam, District Manager. Mr. Burnam introduced Mrs. Edmunson, Training Director who spoke to the group on "Advantages for Women in Re-

Miss Reynolds, who is All Fashion Stylist, described duties her job entailed including the production of fashion shows. Then the Display Stylist, Nance, explained her responsibilities. After Mr. Stellings, Manager, gave a brief talk, were shown the display work where the display department working on Allen's Easter th

Are you educated? Do you have "book-learning"? Dr. Will Durant, noted philosopher, in a speech at the Texas State College for Women gave a list of works and authors everyone should know for a "Civitate" education. If you've read five on the list, you're good. If you've completed ten, then you're on your way. If you've finished them all—then you've cheated!

• "Trojan Women" by Euripides; "Lives" by Plutarch; "Confessions" by Augustine; and "The Rubaiyat" of Omar Khayyam (translated by Edward Fitzgerald); "The Essays of Montaigne" and "The Essays of Emerson"; "Leaves of Grass" by Whitman; "Ten Quixotes" by Cervantes; Voltaire's "Candide"; and Boswell's "Life of Johnson";

Bacon's essays; Shakespeare's plays; Voltaire's short stories; works of Anatole France; Goethe's "Faust"; Keat's "Odes"; works of Shelley; "War and Peace" by Tolstoy; "Le Pere Goriot" by Balzac; and "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire" by Gibbon; The works of Flaubert; "Brothers Karamazov" by Dostoyevsky; Thoraupe's "wyeiden"; "Lives of the Painters" by Ruskin; and Plauto's "Republic."

Also, the King James version of the Bible, especially the New Testament, and Isaiah, Proverbs, Psalms and Songs of Solomon in the Old Testament.

Sure do have a lot of uneducated folks around here!

The BSU banquet was the destination of the large number of wet gowned Jessies headed for the Student Center Saturday night. The banquet assembled seventy members and guests for the occasion at 7:30.

The theme "Time of Your Life" was carried out in the program, decorations, and dinner. The tables for the dinner were decorated in the fashion of all the timely events of the year, football season, Christmas, New Year's Fourth of July, Valentines, St. Patrick's Day, Easter, Halloween, Thanksgiving, Mothers Day, June, (brides month), Armistice day, and many others.

Where does GSOW stand in rank with other colleges on the question of grades? What is the comparison of the degrees of our college instructors? What do the Jessies study and major in? How many degrees do we grant each year?

These are some of the questions that are asked and very seldom well answered on our campus. There has been no set rule as the difference in grading systems of GSCW and other colleges but by the charts shown you will see that far your grades rank with other colleges.

The Wesley Foundation officers for the coming year were elected at Sunday School this week.

Joyce Nutt, Vienna was elected President; Delores Davis, Newborn, first vice president; Charlie Burnett, Ponta Gorda, Fla., second vice president; Martha Fountain, Hawkinsville, secretary; and Annette Aiken, Newborn, treasurer.

Blanks to be used for recording points are available in a table in the Student Union at Parks Hall. Each activity must be recorded on a separate line, signed by a Physical Education faculty member, or any member of the Rec General Board. Blanks must be turned in by Monday morning of each week, in the Student Lounge in order that points can be counted.

Any student with a C average is eligible for the awards. Point requirements are:

Emblem—900 points; Key—points; Pin—5000 points.

Activities must include a variety in order to count.

Direct further questions to Hardin, Point Recorder; "Pittard, president of Rec; or Glawise Smith, Faculty Advisor.

Tumbling Club To Give Show Here March 6th

The agility and grace of the human figure was demonstrated again when the Tumbling Club of the Georgia State College for Women gives its annual program at student assembly on March 6.

The Tumbling Club is one of the six skill clubs representing the varying interests of students and sponsored by the Physical Education Department and the Recreation Association. Miss Grace Chapin is faculty director, and Lillie Suder of Jonesboro is president. Earline Mathis of Waycross is secretary and Elizabeth Sheffelt of Newman is publicity manager.

The club is invited each year to present its skilled and graceful demonstrations at various Georgia high schools. They gave a program at Brown High School in Atlanta on Feb. 10, and Peabody High School in Milledgeville on Feb. 15.

Members of the club, besides the officers are:

GSCW Graduates Named Women Of The Year By Three

Three graduates of the Georgia State College for Women have been named to the title of "Woman of the Year" in three separate communities because of their fine leadership and contribution to community living.

Miss Catherine Allen of Columbus, Georgia, was named Woman of the Year in Knoxville, Tenn. The project there is sponsored by Beta Sigma Phi Sorority. Judge Camille Kelley made the speech of the evening when Miss Allen, professor of physical education and recreation at the University of Tennessee, was awarded the silver trophy.

Mrs. R. E. Hamilton, the former Miss Ann Pfeiffer, was named Dalton, Ga.'s Woman of the Year in the annual contest sponsored there by the Dalton News and Citizen. Mrs. Hamilton, who was a member of the staff of GSCW's Ina Dillard Russell library after her graduation from the college here, was cited for her outstanding work as director of the Dalton Regional Library.

Mrs. Leila Brunce Smith, prominent Atlanta woman, was recently named Woman of the Year in Business in the annual women's achievement recognition program in that city. Mrs. Smith is widely known for her achievements as a business woman and community leader. She is in the publishing business and has contributed her time and talent to many phases of community development.

DE Club Elects 1950-51 Officers

The Distributive Education Club announces its new officers for the coming year:

Claire Ains, McDonough, president; Jan Murray, Waycross, vice president; Les Clark, Macon, secretary; and Dot Finner, Hazlehurst, treasurer.

Jessie Model Fashions By Simplicity For "Cruise Week-end"

Twenty GSCW girls converted to Conover models this week to show the Cruise costume presented by Miss Olive Berry Simplicity Fashion Editor. Miss Berry is now on tour of schools and colleges throughout the country.

She spoke to the freshmen Home Economics majors at a morning session and gave the fashion show in the evening for the student body and the faculty members.

Miss Berry's lectures and the fashion show were sponsored on the campus by the Home Economics department and Miss Ivey of the Home Economics faculty.

Miss Berry is a graduate of Mount Alison Girls School and received her B.S. degree in education at Columbia University, and is now doing graduate work at New York University.

Miss Berry taught home economics in schools in the United States and Canada, and has also served a term in retailing as director of fashion promotions for large department stores.

WOMEN—

"are inherently different," he offered a rider to the ladies' amendment which would simply state that nothing in the amendment would impair any "rights, benefits, or exemptions now or hereafter conferred by law upon persons of the female sex."

To most of the Senate, it seemed a solution that women could go for: more equality without loss of any of their special advantages. The Senators whooped through the amendment with the Hayden rider attached, 63 to 19, and sat back with relief. But there were indignant sniffs from indomitable Miss Paul. As long as any qualifications whatsoever dangled from the bill, she was not going to be satisfied. Banners still flying, weapons at the ready, the sisters of Abigail Adams advanced on the apprehensive members of the House.

Madrigal Group Plans For Spring Activities

The madrigal singers led by Miss Alberta Goff, will sing in Mansion rotunda during the tea for the youth conference for high school girls, April 23.

The group has also planned a tea for a Sunday afternoon in April. They will entertain friends and faculty members with tea and a short program in the recreation hall of Mansion annex.

The group has planned other activities for Spring quarter, among them singing for the Milledgeville Rotary Club, singing Easter Sunday at the Presbyterian church, and possibly out of town trips.

Ann Moore, Griffin is president of the group. Other members are Lanelle Edmondson, Bobbie Adkins, Aloe Ernest, Polly Brannan, Rosimary Albritton, Amy Bartlett, Faye Boyer, Joyce Pannell, and Nadine Giles.
